

U. S. PLANES RETURN TO BERLIN TODAY

U. S. SUBS SINK 16 VESSELS IN ENEMY WATERS

529. Announced Today. Included On Big Tanker; Toll Now Reaches 627.

WASHINGTON, March 9—American submarines have sunk 16 more Japanese ships in enemy controlled waters.

The big bag, announced today by the Navy, included one large tanker which could have been loaded with badly needed fuel for enemy cases.

The toll brought to 627 the number of Japanese ships sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarine action alone.

Ship Toll Mounts

Sinking by other causes—airplanes and warships—boosts the total damage to Japanese shipping to 1,899 enemy vessels of all types.

Pursuant to policy, the Navy is announcing the latest sinkings did not report the areas in which the submarines operated. However, our submarines are known to have been operating along the coastal waters of Japan itself.

In addition to the large tanker, other ships sunk by the far-ranging undersea craft included five transports and ten cargo vessels, all of which presumably were endeavoring to keep men and materials moving to bases scattered over the Pacific.

Loss Serious To Japs

Such heavy damage to the enemy's shipping lines has been accomplished with steady regularity and only Tuesday Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, commenting on the submarine campaign in the Pacific, said "it think it has taken such a heavy toll of their shipping that lack of shipping may soon be a controlling factor in what they are able to do."

Nimitz also expressed opinion that our submarine activities have forced the Japanese to withdraw their heavy naval units from their south Pacific base at Truk by cutting off supplies of fuel.

A recapitulation of damage done Japanese shipping by our submarines shows: definitely sunk, 47 craft of all types; probably sunk, 36; and damaged, 114.

The totals for all types of action, including submarines, planes and surface ships are 1,085 sunk, 107 probably sunk and 817 damaged.

Six Men Fined On Gambling Charges

Six men arrested early Sunday morning when city police investigated a light burning at 3:40 a. m. in Dutch's Place, 667 West Center street and reported they found a gambling game in progress were arraigned in municipal court yesterday and all entered pleas of guilty.

H. D. Field, 46, of 774 Cheney avenue, charged with operating a gambling place and possessing illegal liquor, was fined $100 and six with $30 of the fine suspended; Ray Thompson, 33, of 305 E. street, running gambling table, $50 and costs; $25 suspended; Carroll Reese, 33, of Morton, Carl Saxton, 48, of 130 Canby court, Steve Bene, 34, 116 Park boulevard, and Joseph Wilson, 38, 510 Oak Grove avenue, all charged with gambling, were each fined $10 and costs.

TWO DEMANDS BLOCK FINN-SOVIET PEACE

LONDON, March 9—Soviet demands that Finland withdraw her troops to the 1940 Russian-Finnish border and intern all German troops now in Finland, appeared today to be the chief stumbling block barring the path to peace between the two nations.

British press dispatches from Stockholm said the Finns had advised Moscow they were ready to accept most of the conditions imposed by the Russians as a prerequisite to further negotiations but that they could not accede to these two demands.

The Finnish note, however, was described as conciliatory and apparently left the door open for further exchanges.

The Finns were said to have taken the stand that compliance with the demands to which they took exception probably would result in a revolt of Finnish pro-German elements and action by German troops themselves.

Blackwood, Thomas Finch, Mrs. Dorothy Starkweather, Miss Catherine Ferguson, Mrs. Catherine Myers, J. E. Jones and W. W. Wanamaker.

TIGHTEN GRIP ON VITAL LINE

Reds Press on Through Mud Toward Junction To Grab 40 Miles of Road.

LONDON, March 9—Marshal Zhukov's Red army troops drove forward through the deep, sticky mud of the southwestern Ukraine today toward the important junction of Proskurov, capture of which, Moscow dispatches said, would give the Russians a firm grip on a 40-mile stretch of the Odessa-Warsaw trunk railway between Proskurov and Volochisk.

A Soviet communique announced Russian forces already had captured Chern-Ostrov, 11 miles northwest of Proskurov, and said a furious battle was raging inside Staro-Konstantinov, described as vital German base 25 miles to the north.

Less Blow to Nazis

Failure of the Germans to hold Proskurov, it was pointed out, would force them to fall back on a circuitous rail line, running from Lwow to Cernauti, Rumania, thence back to the Odessa-Warsaw line at Zhmerinka, if they hoped to maintain contact with German forces in the lower Dnieper river bend.

Capture of Chern-Ostrov was followed by storming of Gruzhevitsa, four miles further east and only seven miles from Proskurov, the Moscow bulletin said. This narrowed the escape corridor for the Germans in the Staro-Konstantinov area to a 26-mile-long gap between Gruzhevitsa and Volochisk.

Field Marshall Fritz Von Manstein threw great reserves of tank forces and infantry against the Red army advance, Moscow said, but was hurled back.

Retreating under blows of the Soviet troops, the Germans abandoned tanks, guns and trucks (Turn to RUSSIANS, Page 14)

Golden Gloves Tournery Set for Opening Monday Night

Details Drawn Up at Meeting of Sponsors, the Y's Men's Service Club; Bout Scheduled 3 Nights.

Detailed plans for the first Golden Gloves boxing tournament in Marion since 1942, to get under way Monday night at 8 in the Marion Armory, were outlined when the Y's Men's club, sponsors, held its weekly dinner meeting last night in the Y.

Satisfactory progress was reported in every department of the tournament, and committees made arrangements to put the finishing touches on tourney plans between now and Monday.

At 8 o'clock Monday night the curtain will go up on 15 to 18 preliminary bouts, with fighters from a total entry list of 50 representing Marion, Bucyrus, Galion, Delaware, LaRue, Agosta, Richmond and Mt. Gilead taking part.

The second group of fights will be held Tuesday night at 8, with 10 to 15 bouts scheduled.

The finals will be held Friday night at 8, with the nine championship events on the card. Winners will be named in nine weight divisions.

Service Fund Benefit

The Y's Men's Service club is sponsoring the tournament with the assistance of the Y. M. C. A. and the proceeds will go to the club's fund for service projects. Wayne McCune, general chairman, is being assisted by Joseph Yanitell and Carl Keller, working with a group of committees.

Tickets, both general admission and reserved seats, are already on sale at Markert & Lewis.

One of the final jobs for club members will come Sunday when they go to the Armory to set up the ring and chairs. At the same time the concession committee will get their facilities ready.

JAPS ATTACK AT 2 POINTS

One Repulsed on Los Negros and the Other Resisted Bitterly by Marines.

Two Japanese counter-attacks in the Bismarck sea campaign were reported in today's allied communiques. One, on Los Negros island, in the Admiralty group, was smashed, and the other, on New Britain's Williamson peninsula, is being bitterly resisted.

Veteran American Marine shock troops are fighting to hold their beachhead. The airstrip is 170 airplane miles from Rabaul, main Japanese base on northeast New Britain.

While small forces of Japanese planes darted through the night, a cluster of troop-filled enemy barges attempted to land on Los Negros island Tuesday.

Douglas MacArthur communique said American artillery caught the barges off-shore and every landing attempt was repulsed.

Allied forces leap-frogging up the coast of New Guinea have strengthened their positions west of Saidor and are now 23 airline miles from the coast.

Harry Laack of Upper Sandusky is chief clerk at the headquarters and is top civilian on the administrative staff. He operates as assistant to the commanding officer and is charged with responsibility for records and correspondence at headquarters.

D. O. Dix of 491 East Church street is supervisor of one of the warehouses in charge of receiving, storage and shipping operations there.

R. B. Sporre of 439 East Center street is assistant chief of the project section, charged with domestic shipments to the air corps. He does technical research to keep abreast of engineering changes and to make certain that the parts ordered for engines will meet the requirements of the job they are to be used on.

D. B. Fetters of Carey is in charge of the shipping department and handles all the paper work incident to shipping and marking, including the use of codes for shipments abroad. All papers affecting shipping are funneled through his office.

J. N. Bonner of 1100 East Church street is supervisor of one of the warehouses, in charge of receiving, storage and shipping in that building.

G. R. Martin of near Marion is supervisor of the box factory which provides proper containers for the shipments to protect them on their long journeys.

M. L. Trubey of Carey is stock records supervisor and maintains a card file that is a perpetual inventory of parts on hand at the depot.

W. H. Jacobs of Bucyrus heads an inventory unit that makes a physical inventory of the depot every three months, individually counting the thousands of various parts stored there.

R. P. Wilcox of 265 South Main street is a warehouse supervisor in charge of receiving, storage and shipping in one building.

H. I. Yost of 326 Silver street is central receiving supervisor, checking all incoming shipments to verify the shipping charges.

J. C. Herrod of near Marion is labor foreman who keeps track of the warehouse employees to see that they are working hard.

Donald L. Long of 1014 East Church street is a warehouse supervisor.

Only three employees are stationed at the depot at present. The remainder are at the various warehouses throughout the area.

W. F. Mayes of 570 Cherry street handles all paper work connected with shipping, such as making out shipping tickets. He is assisted by a group of from 10 to 18 girls, varying in number with the volume of work to be done.

Thomas Finch of 841 South Prospect street is in charge of storage and shipping from one of the seven warehouses at the depot and is supervisor for receiving, storage and shipping for his warehouse.

COLLETT TELLS OF GRILLING BY TOLEDO POLICE

Declares He Signed Confession Only After Day-Long Questioning.

WASHINGTON, C. H., O., March 9—James W. Collett, a little white-haired hog breeder on trial for his life, testified today he signed a confession admitting he killed Elmer McCoy only after he had been admonished. "Think of that little granddaughter," "Think of the 13th and last defense witness in his trial on an indictment charging he wiped out the McCoy family last Thanksgiving eve, Collett asserted his signature was put to a statement composed by Lt. George Eckerman of the Toledo police laboratory after a full day of questioning.

Eckerman, Collett testified, had told him he knew of a similar case in which "some one" got a year and three months in an asylum and remarked "wouldn't that be better than go through a nasty dirty trial?"

And then, Collett said, Eckerman added: "Think of that little granddaughter. That broke me down. I said you fix up something."

Thomas, Collett's 29-year-old son, has a baby girl.

Then, Collett added, Eckerman then "told me the story I was to tell"—about the trip to the farm, a fight over money, and the subsequent shooting after McCoy reached for a gun.

"I was so near worn out I could not think right and I said go ahead and fix something," Collett testified he told Eckerman.

His testimony came after that in which he denied ever quarreling with McCoy and even being in Fayette county the night the family relatives of the Colletts, died, a blaze of gunfire.

Very direct, sure of himself, but winning friendly and feeling his injured neck, Collett was led by his counsel through a long list of ailments with which he was afflicted and came then to the night before Thanksgiving.

"Jim," asked defense counsel James N. Linton, "did you ever have any altercation with Elmer McCoy about anything?"

"Never in the world," Collett replied.

"Were you at Elmer McCoy's farm or in Fayette county the day before Thanksgiving?"

"No, I wasn't."

Collett testified so rapidly at times it was impossible for court stenographer to keep up, and his counsel cautioned him to slow down.

Hurt 24 Years Ago

He said that 28 years ago a draft horse smacked him against a post in a stable, and since then he had not had normal use of his right arm. In 1938, he continued, he fell from a load of hay and injured his neck, making use of a brace necessary. Besides, he added, he was afflicted with a kidney ailment, gland trouble and arthritis.

"Have you had normal use of yourself since that accident (fall from the wagon)?" Linton asked.

"Oh, no," Collett replied. "I go too long without feeling it. I knock me out for a week or two."

Suddenly, Linton injected the question, whether Collett had trouble with McCoy or was in Fayette county the night of the murder.

Telling his story of that night, Collett said he had gone to Williamsburg during the day, returned home, ate his evening meal, and left for Herveyville about 7:30 to buy hog feed, but found the store closed and inquired at a barber shop for the store owner.

War Summary

BERLIN—Heavy U. S. bombers hammer Berlin again today for fourth time in six days.

RUSSIA—Soviet troops in Ukraine rush ahead through deep mud toward vital rail junction.

ITALIAN FLEET—Churchill tells commons he favors delay in disposing of ships when question is raised over Roosevelt's statement of gift to Russia.

PACIFIC—Japs make two desperate attacks to regain territory in Bismarck sea area. One on Los Negros is thrown back.

ITALIAN FLEET STIRS COMMONS

Churchill Says He Favors Delay in Decision on Disposition of Ships.

LONDON, March 9—Prime Minister Churchill said today disposition of "enemy or ex-enemy" fleets had best be left until the end of the war, but confirmed President Roosevelt's announcement that consideration was being given to reinforcement of the Soviet navy by Italian or other warships.

Answering a flood of questions, some of which asked if such announcements should not be made in concert by London and Washington in the future, Churchill indicated to the house of commons Italian warships still were being operated by the Italians under the old arrangements.

"As President Roosevelt has said the question of the future employment and disposal of the Italian fleet has been a subject of some discussion and in particular consideration has been given to the immediate reinforcement of the Soviet navy, either from Anglo-American or Italian resources," he said.

Favors Delay

"It may well be found that the general question of enemy and ex-enemy fleet disposal should best be left over to the end of the war against both Germany and Japan when the entire situation can be surveyed by the victorious allies and they can decide what is right and just to be done," he continued.

He added no details, however, to President Roosevelt's statement of March 3 that negotiations were about half completed for the transfer of Italian ships.

2 TOWNSHIPS TOP RED CROSS QUOTAS

Grand and Grand Prairie Turn in More Than Goals.

Two Marion county townships have gone over their goals, Miss Lillian Plack, announced today, and this information is still not from the final report.

Mrs. Ralph Williams, chairman of Grand township reported that $301.25 has been donated thus far, leaving the $210 original goal looking rather small. Grand Prairie, through Mrs. Harry Brewer, reported subscriptions totaling $427.50, $67.50 margin over the $360 goal.

The third meeting of the Red Cross workers will be held tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the War Fund headquarters with precinct and ward chairmen making their latest report.

With almost half of the Red Cross war fund quota for Marion reached within the first nine days of the drive, a variety of colorful voices by different leaders.

GIANT CRAFT HIT CITY 2ND DAY IN ROW

Raid Follows Attack Yesterday When Nazis Lost 125 Planes.

BERLIN, March 9—Berlin was attacked again today—for the fourth time in six days—by heavy numbers of the U. S. Eighth air force.

It was the second day in a row that by Fortresses and Liberators had hit the German capital, first attacked by American forces last Saturday and again set afire Monday.

Today's attack demonstrated the amazing reserve strength in equipment and the endurance of the Eighth airforce crews.

Strong forces of fighters from the Eighth and Ninth airforces escorted the bombers.

The first announcement gave no hint as to how today's bomber formations compared in strength with yesterday's raid on the German capital by at least 850 four-engine bombers.

First Berlin announcements failed to crow over the "great aerial battle" as during the previous American raids and today's formations may have reached the city with comparatively minor resistance from German fighters. It was certain that the German air arm was experiencing one of the most exhausting weeks of the war.

Berlin has now been shaken by more than 30,000 tons of bombs since the first big R.A.P. raid Nov. 18.

In smashing furious and continuous at the capital, the American forces have followed the pattern proved successful in earlier operations against Germany.

Experience has shown that German resistance grows weaker the longer raiding continues while the bombing operations themselves consequently grow easier.

In the concentrated operation the entire against German aircraft plants last month, the Americans and the British had the additional advantage of the ability to disperse enemy forces. Against Berlin, however, there has been a smashing drive over the same route day after day with the Americans depending on sheer shattering blows to get through more easily each time.

The Berlin radio acknowledged that the Americans struck again at noon, but this time in hazy weather in contrast to the fairly clear skies under which the two previous blows had been struck.

Yesterday's operation, involving from 350 to 1,000 bombers, was disclosed to have taken a toll of 125 enemy fighter planes, a forty-two shot down by bombers and 32 by American and allied fighters. This tally brought to 301 the number of enemy planes accounted for in two great sallies against Berlin, Monday and Wednesday.

Bomber Losses Drop

Thirty-eight big American bombers were lost, compared with 58 on Monday, while fighter losses totaled 15 instead of the 16 as first reported yesterday. Eleven fighters were lost Monday.

A U. S. headquarters announcement said the four main buildings of the V.K.F. ball-bearing factory at Erkner in the suburbs of Berlin were bombed yesterday. At least one was seriously damaged and left burning while smoke obscured the other three. But damage could not be ascertained.

Three buildings of a factory making torpedoes parts also were set afire.

The German high command in its communique today admitted losses but claimed 115 enemy bombers, including 50 four-engine bombers, were shot down.

One very large four-engine bomber was shot down by German fighters. The wreckage was seen falling from the sky.

The statement also said that the German high command was confident that the American and British forces would be unable to sustain their present rate of bombing.

The German high command was confident that the American and British forces would be unable to sustain their present rate of bombing.

SMITH TAKES JOB AT BUREAUCRATS

To Block Federal Backing of "Lunch Program."

Frederick C. Smith, 34, introduced an amendment to the 1944 department of agriculture bill to prohibit federal employees from attempting to influence any school system to use the "so-called lunch program" according to a dispatch from Washington.

He called the amendment and was adopted by a vote of nearly 1 to 10 of the Smith amendment provides for dismissal of any school employee.

The text of the amendment: "No employee of the department of agriculture or the war foods administration or the commodity credit corporation or any other federal body or agency shall circularize or solicit in any manner directly or indirectly any school authority to permit the use of the so-called school lunch program. The violation of this provision shall be punished by dismissal of any such employee."

Cong. Smith told the house, in offering the amendment, "If there had been placed in every federal law at the time it was enacted a provision containing the same principle, the federal bureaucracy today would be no more than one-tenth of its present size. One of the greatest fallacies that has ever gripped the minds of men is that bureaucracy is something that comes about through the demands of the civilian population. The growth of bureaucracy did not result from public demand but instead resulted from political salesmanship and coercion. It is the political group that is primarily responsible for the inauguration and development of practically all federal government programs."

Try This Old Home-Mixed Cough Relief. Surprising!

Child Could Make It. No Cooking. Big Saving.

You may not know it, but in your own kitchen, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs, colds, and croup. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for results, it can't be beaten.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup, if you prefer. Instead of sugar syrup, you can use honey, if you like. It's no trouble. No cooking needed. It's no trouble. It's no trouble. It's no trouble.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick relief, it's a wonder. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, and makes breathing easy. If not pleased, your money will be refunded.

News Behind the News

Complicated Soldier Vote Dispute Likened to Story O. Henry Might Have Written.

By PAUL MALLON.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The story of the soldier vote bill. The efforts of politicians to grab that massive count of ten million (they say) is like the two kidnapers who stole the rich child. After about three days of living with the precious urchin, who made their lives miserable with his antics (shooting slingshots and putting marbles in the soup) they were both willing to pay a ransom to him to get rid of him. It is even funnier than that, because here are the elements of a deeper intrigue made more farcical every day by the participants who are acting as if no one else was aware of their motives. The are all great big, gray men, fighting with their very lives, to get every soldier vote.

The thing started when a couple of Democratic politicians (Senators Green and Lucas) realized the enormity of the soldier vote possibilities and introduced a bill last June 29 to collect these votes in a special way which would enable their side to get the most advantage. The Republicans, or most of them, immediately discovered the ruse and undertook to break it up, fostering the states rights idea of southern Democrats, which would enable the governors of the states (mostly Republican outside the solid south) to direct the collection.

Oct. 12 Subtlety
Shamefacedly, after exposure, Messrs. Green and Lucas introduced a substitute Oct. 12, which modified somewhat the more outrageous and obvious legal provisions they had written for the kidnaping, but did not change their intent.

The house passed a states rights bill, and, on Dec. 3, the senate substituted for it the Eastland-McKellar bill, both confusedly involved in legal verbiage, none of which would be interesting to you, except that the words added up to the fight outlined above.

On Feb. 6, the senate reconsidered and decided to pass a second bill, even more complicated three days after the house had reconsidered (Feb. 3) and passed a substitute of its own states rights bill.

President's Statement on Disposition of Italian Navy Called Confusing.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

WE HAVE just had a demonstration of how easy it is to give a large part of the world the jitters when the President said quite casually that Russia was to get a third of the Italian navy.

Marshall Badoglio threatened to resign. Italian Socialists in Naples protested. The French, the Greeks, the Yugoslavs wanted to know about their share.

The British were deeply perturbed at the effect of the disclosure on the Italians who are now manning about a hundred Italian ships participating in the Italian campaign.

And to a great many, the whole transaction seemed dishonorable in that it looked as if Britain and the United States had secretly divided the Italian Navy and had settled its fate, though the Italians were being asked to risk their lives fighting on those very ships.

As a matter of fact, the story as the President let it come out of his press conference was radically incorrect and altogether misleading. So far as I know, the correct story was first told by Raymond Gram Swing in his broadcast on Monday evening. It is that the three powers have not divided up the Italian navy. They have not settled the question whether Italy is to keep her navy in the peace treaty, or if not, who is to get what part of it.

Get Use of Ships
What they have agreed upon is to make available to Russia for war purposes the equivalent of one-third of the Italian fleet. Russia asked for this much naval assistance before the Moscow conference, and Britain and America agreed to the request.

Russia needs naval forces for comink operations that are well known to us and are a necessary part of the over-all plan of the war. We were able to grant the request because the surrender of the Italian navy had augmented British and American sea power in Europe.

Our compliance did not mean that we turned over one-third of the Italian ships. Nor did it mean that we ordered one-third of the Italian ships to place themselves under Russian orders. It meant only that out of the total naval forces at the disposal of the Anglo-Americans, a force equivalent to one-third of the Italian fleet would be assigned to Russian operation.

The agreement with Russia, therefore, has no political significance whatsoever. It has no bearing upon the armistice or eventual treaty with Italy, none upon the postwar balance of naval forces in the Mediterranean, none upon our obligations to France, Yugoslavia and Greece. It is an agreement, like hundreds of others, on the deployment of the total forces available to the Allies.

Explanation Needed
All of this could and should have been made plain by the President. That he did not make it plain must be charged off as one of the disadvantages arising from his making oral impromptu replies to questions at his press conferences.

If the President were well advised, he would make it a rule that all questions dealing with military and diplomatic matters be submitted to him in writing 24 hours in advance. Then he could give a considered, informed and informing answer. Every one, the newspapermen and the public, would benefit.

We have come to a stage of the war where the tension is mounting because, beneath the surface of the news, there is the fact that the greatest battles in which Americans have ever fought are being set both in the Pacific and in Europe.

There is no doubt that a principal reason for the gulf between the President and congress lies in the fact that these tremendous operations, which will settle the fate of nations for generations to come, are invisible to most of congress and to the public. But they are a terrible preoccupation of the men who must direct them.

It is silly to suppose that the President can have much strength and energy left to form the right

THE ANXIOUS WAR BRIDE

The Problems of Lasting Peace

By Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson

(This is another installment of the newly-revised, up-to-the-minute version of their important book, "The Problem of Lasting Peace," prepared especially for this series by Herbert Hoover, thirty-first President of the United States and Hugh Gibson, former minister to Poland and Ambassador to Belgium and Brazil.)

INSTALLMENT IV A New Method of Making Peace

TO MAKE clear our proposals for a new method of peace-making we may point out that after total war the problems of peace comprise four parts:

1. The leadership and machinery for making peace.
2. The settlement of certain urgent questions upon surrender of the enemy which are necessary to establish order and the immediate resumption of economic life in the world.
3. The constructive solution of gigantic long-view problems, the successful settlement of which is necessary in order to avert or still the dynamic forces which cause war.
4. The creation after these foundations are laid, of a world institution for the preservation of peace.

We, therefore, propose four steps in the organization of peace:

First Step

The first step is to reach an agreement, before firing ceases between all the United Nations that the great victorious powers be appointed the Joint Managers or Executives or Custodians or Trustees of Peace. That is the United States, Britain Russia and China.

Second Step

The second step is an agreement between all the United Nations before victory over Germany, setting up the terms of a simple Provisional Peace which will impose upon belligerent Europe without argument the moment firing ceases, and later on Asia.

Third Step

The third step is a Transition Period from war to peace of a few years, in which the world can have time for deliberate solution of the long view problems of lasting peace.

Fourth Step

The fourth and last step, after the foundations of real peace have been laid, is then to create some sort of world institution to replace the Managers or Trustees and preserve peace.

The First Step

The world must have leadership to guide it through the dangers and swamps of total war. At the moment we can arrive at the Promised Land of some world-wide institution to preserve peace. An obligation of leadership will rest upon the four great centers of power. It is not only an obligation to maintain order in a world transition by virtue of their strength but it is also a right by virtue of their major sacrifice.

THE PROBLEMS OF LASTING PEACE

WE are not proposing a long-term military alliance of these leading powers. We may emphasize here that a military alliance would undermine their moral influence and would add nothing to their strength. What we will need is predominantly moral and political development of peace.

The Second Step—Provisional Peace

We propose that immediately upon victory over each enemy the "Executive" nations should without argument or negotiations impose the following minimum of terms upon them, further and final terms to be reserved for later action.

The instant surrender of arms and demobilization of all enemy military forces.

Evacuation of occupied territories.

Return of loot.

Repatriation of military prisoners and civil populations driven from their homes.

The immediate call of freely chosen elective constitutional assemblies or parliamentary bodies in all enemy countries in order that there be effective governments with which to deal.

The following action should be instantly taken under the leadership of the Trustees and with the cooperation of the other United Nations.

The instant removal of all blockade measures against neutrals and liberated nations—and the removal of blockade against enemy areas the instant they have surrendered their arms.

Temporary restoration of pre-war commercial treaties pending general economic solutions.

These treaties regulate communication and enable the movement of commercial ships, planes, and goods.

Immediate undertaking of relief for famine and pestilence and aid in reconstruction.

The designation of provisional boundaries of all liberated and enemy states, with some areas to be occupied and governed by the "Trustee nations" pending settlement.

The preservation of order during the Transition Period.

The appointment of regional "councils," representing all United Nations chiefly concerned, to deal with political settlements in Europe, Asia and the Western Hemisphere.

The appointment of special commissions representing all United Nations to deal with long-view problems which concern all nations.

Other proposals might be included in the "provisional peace" if they could be agreed upon. But with these simple minimums the world could move toward political order and economic recovery.

THE immediate economic demoralizations from this present war will be even greater than those of the last war. The destruction of life and property, the displacements of peoples will be more terrible. With the disorder and collapse of discipline that will follow upon defeat, there will come the weakening of one rationing systems and distribution of what food there is in the enemy countries. The farmers and villagers and those who can pay black-market prices will get the food and the poor of the cities will be worse off than they were before firing ceased. Unless extensive and instant relief is undertaken to enemy and friend alike, there will be no hope of stability in governments upon which peace can be built, and no alloying of war hates.

To start economic forces working quickly for peace and reconstruction we have suggested that as soon as the enemy is disarmed the technical commercial treaties should be provisionally restored and the blockade removed. The world could then at once resume foreign trade.

In this war we must resolve a double difficulty. That is how to keep unity during the war and achieve at the same time preparedness for peace in advance of victory. There is a well founded fear that negotiation between the United Nations of all the gigantic long-view questions while the war is in progress would disrupt unity. Hence the escapist policy: "Victory first, escapist peace afterwards."

In consequence, aside from a few very general aims and platitudes, victorious nations have usually come to the peace settlements wholly without any real preparedness for the immense problems they must meet. We cannot negotiate these long-view questions without danger. But we could negotiate the urgent measures which should be immediately imposed as the enemy nations surrender. Their settlement beforehand would promote unity rather than disrupt it.

Blockade of Europe

Bay of Biscay Move Draws Net Tighter on Separating Germany from Sources of Supply.

By NED NORDNESS

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Inclusion of the Bay of Biscay, off northern Spain, within the Allied Atlantic sea and air blockade is not just a gesture. It has drawn even tighter the net which separates Nazi Germany from much-needed war materials.

The blockade was slipped against Germany as soon as war was declared in 1939. The British Department of Economic Warfare says Germany's normal seaborne imports were cut in the following proportions:

Rubber, nearly 100 per cent; iron, 80 per cent; oil, 80 per cent; tungsten, 75 per cent; natural phosphate fertilizers, 65 per cent; copper, 75 per cent; cotton, 92 per cent; wool, 95 per cent. Germany took over a few countries and obtained some vital supplies and more were added in trade with such neutrals as Sweden, Turkey and Spain—but not nearly enough.

What does a close blockade mean to a country already heavily dependent upon ersatz supplies?

It means the Nazi High Command would be forced to sacrifice thousands of soldiers on the eastern front to take desperately-needed manganese and other mines in the east Ukraine. The Germans risked thousands more in an attempt to hold these mines, but they lost.

It means the Hitler group will even risk what is left of its war fleet to convoy cargo ships to European shores. Germany did this last December in an attempt to get one merchantman through the Bay of Biscay. One-third of the Nazi destroyer force was sent out. Three destroyers were sunk, and so was the cargo ship by alert Allied forces.

It means that for every mile the German lines are shortened the Germans are that much farther away from needed materials. It is believed that one reason Russia of late has been putting pressure on Finland to get out of the conflict is because the Reds want to watch the Gulf of Bothnia and stop further sea shipments of Swedish iron ore to Germany.

As the Nazi lines are pulled in, the Axis must depend more and more upon lone wolf operations of blockade runners. For that reason the Allies guard closely those European ports fronting the Atlantic where solo shipping may enter or depart.

Lone ships attempt to dart into the Bay of Biscay with rubber and tin from Japanese-occupied territories. Adverse weather is their ally; fog, blizzards and rainstorms are welcomed. Often they hide under Allied flags.

Most are trapped in the blockade net. Many are apprehended and sunk far from Europe because the Allies maintain an alert on ports and sea lanes all over the world. Hitler has many ships at home bases waiting to make a break to sea. These are systematically bombed.

The Allies also have gone in for buying in neutral countries commodities wanted by Germany. Whether or not the Allies need the goods is immaterial. At least they don't wind up in Hitler's war plants.

The sea blockade has proven a potent weapon of warfare before. Napoleon was defeated largely because of it. Kaiser Wilhelm couldn't buck it. Hitler, too, is falling before it.

Learning the Ropes

By Truman Twill

The short-haired women, the long-haired men, and the statisticians agree that keeping housewives at home in the kitchen after they've seen the inside of a factory is going to be a lost cause. That settles it, gentlemen. You will find a clean apron in the drawer.

You will not find it in the drawer you are looking in, however. That is your first lesson in the great responsibility you are about to undertake. The drawer you are looking in is where the dish towels, the pot holders and the hot dish pads are stored.

You see, gentlemen, there are many drawers. In this drawer you will find the hand towels, the clean cloths, a ball of salvaged string and some miscellaneous gadgets that are attachments for other gadgets. These other gadgets will not be found in the same drawer, however, but over there in that drawer.

In that drawer is everything that will not be found in any other drawer in the house, including the kitchen drawer. The kitchen drawer is in a class by itself, you see, because the stuff it contains is on the verge of being discarded anyway and is known as miscellaneous.

Eventually, you will be able to learn these things so well your housework will be a cinch, except that there are some 20 other drawers whose location and contents also must be memorized and coordinated. When you have done that and your wife comes home from a hard day at the factory and says she wants to know what became of the picture wire because she wants to fix the handle on her lunch bucket, you will be kept just where to go. The picture wire is kept on a shelf, which is something else again.

Then there is the matter of closets, which also will make housework a little trouble right at the beginning of the brave new world when househusbands are learning how to keep the old dump clicking. No one ever knows which closet to start groping in, either, until experience has shown that the place to go to is the box with the bathing suits is not a closet at all but a chest.

Of course, it could happen that when we gentlemen start to take our housekeeping seriously we may get some little cards, a bottle of ink and a broad pen and label all the drawers, closets, shelves and chests as to their contents, but that would not be in the tradition of housework and would be strictly non-union. Besides it would hurt the ladies' feelings when they came home and wanted to find something and we told them, "You can read, can't you?" They would throw themselves around in a huff and maybe flounce out and leave us all alone with our filing systems.

Then we'd want to work in the factories and the women would pass a law outlawing us from holding jobs if we were married and already being supported. It looks like we're a for it, gentlemen.

So They Say—

After the war the policy pursued by the United States will have a crucial influence on world reconstruction and peace. American policy both during and after the war is molded to the president's personality and outlook.—The Yorkshire Post, British newspaper.

I have quite a few Japs to my credit, I guess. They just wouldn't take cover, and I probably killed more than 30. The boys in the trenches were tossing grenades to me, and I stood up and yelled like murder and just kept throwing them.—Sgt. Frank Tucker, among Namur Island wounded.

There has been a growing feeling that the elective system has been allowed to become smorgasbord from which the student did not get a balanced diet. I think we will design that diet so the student will have a certain minimum of educational vitamins.—Dean Lloyd K. Nieldinger of Dartmouth college.

HAWAII CHEERS SOLDIER PLAYS

Packed House Greeted Army Production; It Rates with "Big Time" Back Home.

By International News Service
HONOLULU — Maurice Evans, well-known Shakespearean actor, now a captain in the American Army, looked back today on months of work with "GI" talent and concluded their performances are in position to rival the "big time" back home.

Captain Evans, carrying on in the army's first assignment of professional theatrical men to full military duty in bringing entertainment to the armed forces, has aided in building an organization with the reputation of giving the men in the field a taste of real Broadway—from musical capers to "Macbeth."

It was just a year ago that the Department Special Service Office set up an entertainment section in charge. An original musical revue, "Hey Mac," was the first offering and ran 113 performances.

"Pretty good for a bunch of soldiers," remarked Private Reuben Smira, of Providence, R. I. Smira, who acts as the unit's major domo, box office man, curtain fixer and general worry-man, once batted his own band in Honolulu many years ago.

Before his GI days, Smira was well-known in orchestra and theatrical circles—Hollywood and New York—but never imagined that when next he returned to Hawaii he would be in the army. Now, he's awaiting his discharge, for he's 42 years old.

"It's been an experience," he said. "And with it a lot of fun."

Macbeth a Big Hit.
The production of Macbeth had the services of actress Judith Anderson, who made the trip from the mainland solely for the production. The Shakespearean play toured the islands and according to Captain Evans "went better than anything we've ever done."

Approximately 50,000 soldiers saw the play during its nine-week tour and in two public performances $20,000 was raised for civilian organizations.

Miss Anderson's work was saluted by Lieut. Gen. Robert C. Richardson Jr., commanding general of U. S. troops in the Central Pacific. In a letter to the actress, he said that her performance "has brought to the entire service personnel a new appreciation of what the theater means."

"Your visit has contributed immeasurably to the pleasure and morale of the troops in this theater of operations and you may rest assured that the officers and enlisted men of this command will long remember your visit," the general wrote.

Make Own Wardrobes.
Soldiers design and make their own wardrobes, build and paint and light their sets but they are soldiers first and actors and specialists next. They are combat-trained, fall out for reveille with their comrades, drill when drilling is ordered and work nearly the night through on the planned productions. The men go into combat with the added "weight" of makeup kits, ready to put on a show when the time and opportunity present itself.

Music, a most necessary ingredient for many productions, comes from the unit's own band. It is composed of musicians who in civilian life played the big time with the orchestras of Paul Whiteman, Artie Shaw and others.
Men Back of the Show.
Here are a few of GIs who helped make Macbeth a soldier's success:
Private George Schaefer, 23, former director of dramatics at Lafayette college, who acted as director and lighting expert on the production.
Sergeant Paolo D'Anna, 29, costume designer, artist, sculptor and teacher from New York. In 1937, at Dallas, Tex., D'Anna won first prize in an exhibition of graphic arts.
Pfc. Roger Adams, 23, one of the three musical arrangers on Macbeth, worked for three years at Warner Brothers.

Corp. Bob Harwood, 26, of New Brunswick, N. J., conducted a choral group over an east coast radio hookup from the New York World's Fair in 1939.
Corp. Jack Goldman, 26, of Philadelphia, taught at Settlement School of Music in that city, is a composer of modern music.
Pfc. Frederick Stover, 38, set designer on Macbeth, comes from Pasadena, Cal., was on the drama staff of Stanford University.

U. S. Victory Gardener No. 1

HEAD GARDENER. Ernest Moore, national manager of the Victory Garden Program, kneels with his daughter on the good earth of his own garden.

By NED NORDNESS Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON—Ernest Moore is America's Victory Gardener No. 1.

Moore is manager of the Victory Garden Program of the department of agriculture, but he's no swivel chair operator. He knows his gardens from beans to spinach and he has traded his gleamed golf shoes for a pair of old sneakers, his clubs for a spade and a hoe.

"Our aim this year is to raise the greatest amount of food this nation has ever seen," says the tall, lanky, head gardener enthusiastically. "I believe it can be done."

Food Quota Raised

He has set the nation's sights at 22,000,000 gardens and 10,000,000 tons of produce. This represents a 10 per cent increase over the 20,000,000 gardens of 1941 and a 25 per cent jump on the 8,000,000 tons of vegetables produced in the 1943 victory campaign.

"You will note," he points out, ing to hostilities within Finland between Finns and Germans.

It was said, however, the Finns expelling if negotiations were pressed to a satisfactory conclusion and a peace treaty signed, it would be possible to ease the German troops out of Finland and withdraw Finnish forces to the border without incident. An estimated seven German divisions are in Finland.

(A Berlin broadcast quoted a German commentator as saying: "any military force could dislodge the Nazi forces from Finland, independent of anything the Finnish government does the German troops are in Finland to defend Finnish territorial integrity.")

The Daily Mail quoted "Stockholm" as saying the Finns had agreed to a Russian demand that Finland provide workers for rebuilding Leningrad after the war, and to cede to the Soviet Union the Arctic port of Petsamo and their northern nickel mines.

THE MARGARINE WOMEN HAVE DREAMED OF HAS AT LAST COME TRUE!

It's Fleischmann's BLUE BONNET

SO DELICIOUS, SO FRESH, SO SWEET, WE DARE SUGGEST THE HARDEST TEST OF ALL—THE "HOT-FOOD TASTE TEST!"

"Yes, folks!" says Blue Bonnet. "When a margarine is hot and melting, your taste will tell you instantly how good it is."

"That's why I'd like you to try my new Blue Bonnet Margarine on hot food. Then I know you'll agree it's got that real, honest-to-goodness table-spread flavor!"

"You see, when we make Blue Bonnet Margarine, we use rich, nutritious vegetable oils... fresh pasteurized skim milk. No wonder it's so chock-full of fresh, sweet, delicious flavor!"

"And as for nutrition, imagine! Each pound brings you 3,300 food-energy units, plus 9,000 units of Vitamin A! Yet, you pay about one-half the cost of the most expensive spread... need only 6 ration points, not 16. Get some today!"

1 MAKE THIS HARDEST TEST OF ALL! Put a big, generous chunk of melting, plain hot food! Let it melt...

2 THEN, TASTE IT! Even hot, even melted, it's still sweet, rich, delicious! You'll agree...

3 FOR OTHER TASTE—You just can't beat Blue Bonnet. It really tastes like butter!

Lionel Barrymore To Be Back on CBS This Week
By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, March 8.—Lionel Barrymore is setting back on the air after a couple of months' absence. Again he'll be "Mayor of the Town" in the dramatized series about an American community under wartime conditions.
Barrymore left the air Dec. 29 after his program ran 65 weeks. In returning he will be on the same network, CBS, but the time is to be 6 p. m. Saturdays, opening this week.
Bishop G. Broley Oxman, of Boston, guest of tonight's March of Time on NBC at 9:30, is expected to tell why he dissents from the position of 28 colleagues who advocated that the bombing of German cities be stopped.
Tonight: Blue—7:30 Town Meeting "The President and Congress." MBS—9:30 Vice Pres. Wallace on "Jews in Palestine."

LIPPMANN
news on domestic issues. His fault, and it is a grievous one, is that he does not admit it, and reorganize his cabinet, and turn over to others authority, he cannot possibly exercise well himself.
Does anyone suppose that Mr. Churchill tries to direct British war finance, and to have views on whether the sale of trees is income or a capital gain? If only Mr. Roosevelt would be a little more charitable with his own strength, the country would be more charitable about the relatively unimportant matters—unimportant as compared with the great battles that are coming—which cause such an undignified rumpus.
Avoiding Ready Conclusions
But we have all of us an obligation at this time to contribute to the composure and the resolution of the nation. The affair of the Italian fleet is an example of how careful we have to be not to jump to conclusions. The main facts in practically every great international question are hidden from the public, not because they are diplomatic secrets but because they are secrets of coming military operations.
What emerges into the news is a fragmentary political aspect of the underlying and hidden military situation and military planning. The political aspects can rarely be understood without knowledge of the military. This leads to abuses, to errors and to dangers, and we have suffered a good deal from it, especially in the conduct of the war in the Mediterranean.
But there is no way by which everything can be made public without bringing about the defeat of our armies. Therefore, in interpreting and commenting upon the politics of the war, every man has to strike a sensible balance between what he knows and what he knows he does not know, what he can talk about and what he cannot.

This will often inhibit him from jumping to exciting conclusions and from spinning great webs of world-historical, geopolitical and cosmic significance around every act and every word that comes from men in high places and from foreign governments. But it will save him from a lot of breast-beating and hand-wringing that produces needless litter.

Mrs. Neidhart lived in Marion 53 years and was a lifelong resident of Marion county. She was a member of the First Evangelical and Reformed church. She made her home with a daughter, Mrs. S. C. Hurr. There are four other daughters and a son, Mrs. John D. Jones, of Troy avenue; Mrs. James Thatcher of Ashley; Joseph F. ## KELLY same thing happened to that one. There wasn't another rifle handy, so Kelly picked up some 60 MM mortar shells, pulled the safety pins, and used the shells for grenades, killing at least five Germans.

"When it became imperative that the house be evacuated," the citation continues, "Corporal Kelly, despite his sergeant's injunctions, volunteered to hold the position until the remainder of the detachment could withdraw. As the detachment moved out, Corporal Kelly was observed deliberately loading and firing a rocket launcher from the window. He was successful in covering the withdrawal of the unit, and later in joining his own organization."

Kelly Fights On

The citation ends there, with a bow to Kelly's "fighting determination and intrepidity in battle." But "Commando" hadn't stopped there. After firing the last bazooka shell, he slipped out of the storehouse, and made a cautious step down a hill, found an abandoned 37 MM anti-tank gun, and as long as the shells lasted, stayed with that gun, too.

That was at Alavilla. Kelly was at San Pietro, too, as a corporal—the citation for the earlier actions was written while he was a corporal—and then as section sergeant.

He has fought at Cassino, also. He's had a total of 70 days of active combat, and his only injuries have been a scraped nose and some tiny cuts on his hands from shell fragments. Officially he's credited with killing 40 Germans. Unofficially, he has become a legend of the Italian campaign.

His mother, Mrs. Irene Kelly, Pittsburgh, has six other sons in the fighting forces, too.

Allies See All Berlin As Prime Military Target

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

When word came through that our Yankee airmen had dumped 350,000 incendiaries and 10,000 high-explosive bombs into an already-shattered Berlin, we pondered the implications of the report by some groups in America and Britain against so-called "collateral" bombing of German cities.

A wire-cracking editor called across the room to me, "that ought to burn the twenyer up!" Had punk sometimes carry great truth, and I promptly seized on this fresh bombing as a yardstick against which to measure the reasonableness of the plea that Hitler's towns be spared. What's the justification for the assault on Berlin?

Well, there are two prime reasons, either of which is of vast military importance. One is that the capital is among Europe's greatest industrial cities and therefore one of Hitler's chief centers for war production. The other and even more important reason is that Berlin is the hub of Germany's huge network of railways, and prior to the war the reich was operating a greater mileage than any other country in the world, in proportion to area.

Hub of Rail Wheel

Berlin is more than a railway "hub." It's a bottle-neck for most of the main lines running across not only Germany but Europe. Obviously this bottle-neck renders Hitler highly vulnerable. He must keep it open, for without transportation for his supplies and troops he is sunk. That's something to remember well as the allied invasion of western Europe approaches, and the Nazis need speedy communication between their eastern and western fronts.

An important point about Berlin—and this is true of some other cities—is that the entire metropolis is filled from circumference to center with military objectives. If you wipe out these objectives you must just about destroy the town.

Transportation is one of Germany's weakest points. That's Hitler's fault. When he was preparing for war he allowed his infallible intuition to persuade him to neglect the railroads in favor of the mighty military highway which he built. It never occurred to him that the time would arrive when he would lack gas and rubber tires to keep his motor transport speeding over his beautiful autobahns.

Back To Railroads

He finally was compelled to place his main dependence once more on the despoiled railroads and canals. By that time the roads had run down and their rolling-stock was in bad shape. So the allied bombers went after the railways, and the locks and other vulnerable parts of the canals. Those canals are important, for Germany has been one of the world's greatest users of this form of transport.

But to get back to our muttons, as our English friends say, a dozen main railway lines run into that hub which is Berlin. There's a ringbahn, or outer circle of railway round the city, and this is an integral part of an ingenious system connecting the terminals of the main lines.

So with its railways and wide-spreading industries Berlin is one vast military target. When American and British bombers attack the Nazi capital they aren't trying to bomb objectives which aren't of military importance. Most certainly they aren't hunting civilians. I know from personal acquaintance with their methods that they studiously try to avoid non-military bombing.

If civilians and historic monuments are in the way in Berlin—that's the war which the Nazi dictator forced upon the world, Berlin is the key position from which he has carried the slaughter of millions, military and civilian, from which he literally has enslaved many millions more.

Berlin is the chief citadel which stands between the allies and victory.

German Planes Attack

Convoy on African Coast

By The Associated Press

ALGIERS, March 8.—A strong force of German aircraft attacked an allied convoy off the coast of North Africa, it was announced today, but allied airmen knocked down five of the attackers and damaged two others.

Collett Goes on Witness Stand

Charles Dexter. He stood around them, ate an orange, and finally started home. On the way automobile trouble occurred.

"He went jumping along and I turned around and started toward a garage," he testified. "The car started going nice again and I started home again and got about a mile and the car started jumping with me. A car came from Harveyburg and gave me a push."

Collett said he and the car commenced backing. I jolted the wheel and worked about 20 minutes.

Then, he said, it occurred he might find help at a home down the road.

Found Home Dark

"I got almost back to the house," he added, "and saw it was dark and it just came to me that he (a friend living there) had sold that house and moved away."

So, because he was tired, the defendant continued, he went back to his automobile, lay down and rested. When he got up, he struck his face on the steering wheel and sustained a bleeding nose. An automobile came along then, the driver asked directions to the Three-C highway, and Collett asked for a push. Another automobile came along about the same minute and Collett said he wasn't sure which machine gave him a push. His car started moving, and he was within a half-mile of home when he saw an automobile standing at an intersection and recognized it was his son.

He hollered at me and I hollered at him and we looked out horns," Collett related.

The hog breeder will return to the stand after the noon recess.

Mrs. Collett, who was called to the stand late yesterday after Thomas Collett, the couple's 29-year-old son, testified his father told him he killed McCoy, came back to the stand as today's session opened.

The defense asked whether she ever observed any conduct that would indicate Collett's mind was confused.

"Yes," the wife replied. "Sometimes his mind would be as clear as could be and sometimes you couldn't make him understand anything. A year ago in the summer I saw him and he didn't walk natural. He was feeling along the fence trying to find the yard gate and I asked him what was the matter and he said he couldn't see."

"So many times he said the wrong thing instead of the right thing and he said he just couldn't help it."

"Did you ever have any discussion with your husband whether the family would be questioned (in the McCoy murders)?"

"I was told the rumor was it might be a relative and according to law every one was to be questioned."

Mrs. Collett and McCoy were brother and sister.

"Did you at any time have any controversy with Elmer relative to your affairs or the estate of your mother or your grandparents?"

"There never was any trouble about money."

Returning to the stand after the noon recess, Collett told of reaching home and going to the barn to treat a sick mare. He telephoned Dr. Neil Meyers, a Wilmington veterinarian, about 10 p. m., he said, then gave the horse medicine, saw it improve and finally went to bed.

Went to McCoy Home

The next day, he said, he and his family drove to the McCoy home in Collett's son's automobile because his own wouldn't operate.

"We went right out to Elmer's," he said. "We had just got to the farm when they were putting the folks in the ambulance. When I first saw the ambulance, I wondered if Elmer had got an arm off in the hammer (feed) press."

He was spared further description of the scene that morning, and went on to his arrest the following Tuesday at the home of Dr. A. J. McCoy, brother of Mrs. McCoy, and of questioning by Sheriff W. H. Ickenhower and Prosecutor John B. Hill.

"I told the sheriff about going to Harveyburg, having trouble with my car, and having a sick horse," Collett testified. "I told him I got home something after 9 o'clock. Long after dark they called me out (of his cell) and said in place of it being after 9 o'clock, it was half past 11 when I met my son at the crossroads."

He repeated testimony given earlier during a hearing to fix validity of a confession, telling about being called from his cell for the trip to Toledo, of meeting a "drunken fellow" he believed was a newspaper man, of the sheriff going after the prosecutor who was "in about the same condition as the newspaper man," and then starting for Toledo to take a lie detector test to which he said he had agreed.

Tells of Trip

During the trip, Collett said, Hill told the sheriff "I guess you're right about it. We're going to have to pin this on this bird so you'll be re-elected."

Collett said he was tired when they reached Toledo early the next morning and they had breakfast.

"I got a cup of col. 's and some wheateas and I didn't eat my wheateas because I was too tired. Mr. Hill took a couple more snorts."

In a small polygraph room, Collett said, Eckerman told him he was "being framed by a political ring," adding:

"Don't think the sheriff won't step over your dead body to be re-elected."

"The short cut for you," he added Eckerman said, "is you sign something and I'll call the judge of Clinton and Fayette counties. All the prosecutor wants to do is crack this case. He told about someone who had a case almost like mine who had a hearing behind closed doors and got a year and three months in an asylum."

Eckerman then asked, Collett said, whether that would not be better than "go through a nasty, dirty trial? Possibly your family would be brought into it before it was over. . . . He said I wouldn't be allowed to have an attorney until two days before the trial."

Son on Stand

The son, Thomas Collett, 29, like his father, a farmer, was on the verge of tears as he testified yesterday he could not remember all details of a conversation with his father following the killings because "I was so shocked to have my dad tell me he shot my Uncle Elmer."

Bowing his head and pressing the fingers of his right hand hard against his forehead, the son told of a conversation with the father appearing father last time to his own farm to search for two guns used in the shooting.

"Dad, is this thing true, what come out in the papers?" Thomas said he asked his father.

"He said, well, it is true about Elmer but I don't remember about the women," Thomas testified. "I asked him what made him do such a thing and he said he had an idea of something about real money he thought owed to my mother (by her brother, McCoy) and he went up there to try and make some arrangements and the next day when we were going up to the (McCoy) farm he thought it could be talked out. He said my uncle and he got into an argument and he (McCoy) grabbed his gun and he (Collett) grabbed another gun, and shot him in the back."

As his son testified, the 60-year-old defendant slumped deep into his chair, gripped its sides and watched with half-closed eyes. The son never looked directly at his father.

As the defense developed its attempt to prove Collett could not have committed the slayings because he was misled from the McCoy farm at the time, Thomas Collett testified he met a car he believed was driven by his father near the elder Collett's farm at 3:30 p. m. Thanksgiving eve and 9:30 p. m. and the defense has been setting up an elaborate time chart to show Collett at that time was near his home, 36 miles from the McCoy place.

Witnesses testified Collett's car had traveled only 55 miles from the time it was changed several hours before the slayings until Friday, Nov. 26. The round trip to the shooting scene over the route the state contends Collett followed is approximately 90 miles.

Airman's Interview To Be Broadcast Tonight

A Marion airman, Capt. Courtney LaMar Faught, pilot in a troop carrier group somewhere in the Southwest Pacific battle area, will be heard in a recorded interview with a representative from the Office of War Information tonight at 8:30 o'clock over WMBR.

On the same program will be an interview with Capt. Faught's wife, Mrs. Mary Ann Young Faught, her father, Judge Hector S. Young, A. H. Llewellyn of Cleveland, representative of the OWI, and Lou Marsh of the WMBR staff. The program will be on for half an hour.

been reported to Mrs. C. W. Smoot, residential chairman.

Workers have found that the majority of the persons contacted are more than anxious to contribute in person. From the financial side to contribute more. Still there are the unusual few who complain about everything, and anything and flatly refuse to give any amount, because "they just aren't interested in the work."

This remark was made by one family who had a service flag bearing two stars hanging in its window.

Father's Wife Given $11

One worker in the Fifth ward reported that she had contacted a number of the homes by phone before calling in person. During one of these phone calls an aviation wife asked what the normal contribution amounted to. The worker said that it takes approximately $14 to assure care for a single person. When she called on the young woman she was told that the husband was engaged in battles over Germany and this was the only way she could help take care of him now.

The check which she handed to the Red Cross worker was for $14.

Several cases have been found where both man and wife would contribute, giving this reason: "We have had a letter from our son begging us to do all we can for the Red Cross, because they are doing such a swell job over here."

Some men and women who have no children of their own in uniform say that they have received word from a friend or from the son of some of their acquaintances requesting the same thing.

Prisoners' Tribute

A $10 contribution came from one man who said he had a letter from a friend, now a German prisoner, telling that he had been given cigarettes by the Red Cross. Another mother and father told the solicitor that their son had begged them to give all they could saying, "without the Red Cross getting cigarettes to us prisoners, we would be sunk."

The discontinuing of guest parties by one Marion club resulted in $25 landing in the Red Cross coffers. In the first ward an elderly lady on old age pension was quite concerned because her offering couldn't be larger. Workers in one of the wards told Mrs. Smoot that the quota of $3 was given gladly by members of one family, quite a large family too, and next door she found a childless couple, both working, who flatly refused because they "weren't interested."

From the Sixth ward came this comparison: three houses netted $100 and farther down the street the worker made 10 calls and only received $3. Largest contribution to be recorded to date is from a man and wife who gave $50 each.

stuck in the mud," the war bulletin recounted.

More than 3,000 Nazis were reported slain during the day's operations.

The Russian communiqué failed to mention progress of Red army troops converging on the junction city of Tarnopol, 60 miles west of Proskurov, the Odessa-Warsaw line. They were last reported within nine miles of that city.

German broadcasts told of Russian offensive action in the northern and central sectors of the eastern front, and at Kirov, Ruzh and Kirovograd in the Dnieper bend to the east. Moscow's reference to other fronts was limited to the fighting around the Estonian city of Narva, where, the Russian communiqué said, Red army troops repulsed a German land and air attack, killing 90

A VIEW OF RUSSIA

Editor of The Star: I have just secured a copy of the Soviet Union constitution and quote verbatim a few articles for the information of the people in the U. S. A.

"Article 120: Citizens of the U. S. S. R. have the right to material security in old age as well as in the event of sickness and loss of capacity to work. This right is ensured by the wide development of social insurance of workers and employees at the expense of the state, free medical aid and the provision of a wide network of health resorts for the use of the toilers."

"Article 124: To ensure the citizens' freedom of conscience the church in the U. S. S. R. is separated from the State, and the school from the church. Freedom to perform religious rites and freedom of anti-religious propaganda is recognized for all citizens."

"Article 127: The citizens of the U. S. S. R. are ensured the inviolability of the person. No one may be subjected to arrest except upon the decision of a court or with the sanction of the prosecutor."

4,000 British Churches
Destroyed or Damaged

By The Associated Press
 BOSTON, March 9.—Four thousand churches in England have been destroyed or damaged by German bombs but the churches are facing their tasks of reconstruction in a gallant and high-hearted manner. Rev. William Cecil Northcott of London, home

secretary of the London Missions
 ary society, said today.
 He listed the destruction of the churches, by denominations, as follows: Church of England, 1,634 destroyed, 1,280 damaged; Baptist,
 800 lost or damaged; Methodist,
 1,316 lost or damaged; Church of Scotland, nine destroyed, 170 damaged; Roman Catholic, 234 lost or damaged.
 Rev. Northcott paid high tribute to the American soldier in England, saying, "Your American boys have won the hearts of the British people by their kindness and generosity to British children."

Simple Foods Best for Party

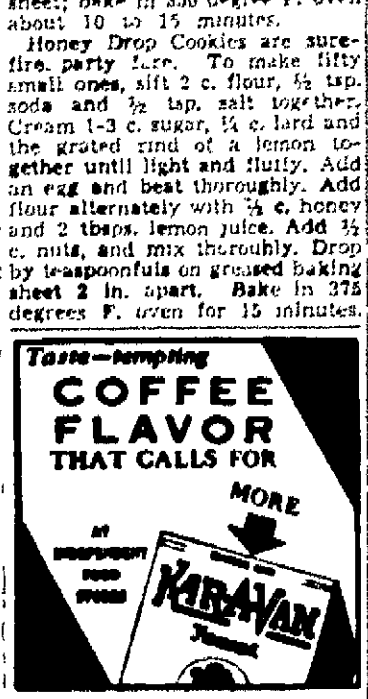

By ALICE DENHUFF
No need for elaborate food for party fare these days! Something savory and simple, costing a minimum of precious points, is in better taste by far than fancy fare. These days, entertaining is likely to consist of friends in for the evening after dinner for conversation, music or a game of cards; then coffee and a snack afterwards.

Desserts Easy on the Sugar

By BETSY NEWMAN
WE SHOULD serve a moderate amount of sugars, syrups and preserves in the average diet. If we take small amounts of sugar in hot drinks, over cereals, etc., we probably get almost enough of this quick energy food, but desserts are legitimate too—and how most of us like our desserts!

MENU
Cream of tomato soup, crackers or toast, scalloped potatoes, Waldorf salad, toasted cheese sandwiches, coffee, sunshine soufflé or fruit sherbet.

When it opened up on us and we knew what it was...
"It kept moving across a field toward us, firing 20-millimeter shells pointblank. We scattered and hit the dirt!"

Marion's Lack of Big Gym Sore Point at N. C. O. Loop Meeting

Threatens for Time To Disrupt League. But Ashland Finally Yields on Earlier Ultimatum.

Marion's lack of adequate gymnasium facilities for North Central Ohio basketball league games was the subject of long discussion and for a time threatened to disrupt the league, when loop representatives held their periodic meeting Monday night in Marion.

The Thomas A. Edison Junior High school floor, where Harding home games are now played, held the league spotlight at Monday's meeting when the disclosure was made that Ashland school officials had sent letters Jan. 21 to Harding officials taking a flat stand against playing any more games on the Marion court.

The letter was an ultimatum, and offered Marion one of three choices: to play both games on the Ashland floor, play one game at Ashland and the other on a neutral floor, or to play both games on a neutral floor.

The letter from Principal Gorsuch to Principal A. C. May of Marion continued, "If none of these suggestions meets with your approval and if no other idea is advanced which we can accept, then we shall have to sever our basketball relationships."

Only Sore Point

It was emphasized that the matter of a site for Marion home games was the only basis of the Ashland complaint and that relations between the schools otherwise have been of the best.

At Monday's meeting of league officials in Marion, Principal Gorsuch of Ashland brought the matter before the entire league and a lengthy debate developed.

The situation seemed to place sole responsibility for continuance of the league with all of its present members upon Marion, but the evening's developments resulted in shifting that responsibility, instead, upon Ashland. Here's what happened:

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, March 9—It isn't the holdouts as much as the hold-ups that are worrying baseball club owners. The demands of players have risen so that some minor leagues are having to lift the salary limits so they can load their squads up to the player limit.

At Buffalo, John Slaughter recently figured out that if he paid 19 players all they wanted, he'd have a monthly payroll of $10,000 in a league with a $8,500 limit. And for that matter, the International league even has three umpire holdouts. . . .

The Tiger's Jack Zeller wonders why Michigan doesn't hold a state high school baseball tournament and offers to donate Briggs stadium, handle the expenses of the teams and furnish equipment for such an event. Ernie Culverley of Rhode Island state averaged 20.7 points a game for the basketball season.

Fewer Balls Needed

Earl Hilgum, the American league publisher, says his circuit has ordered fewer baseballs this year than in other seasons. "You saw where Luke Appling is in the Army, didn't you?" Earl explains. "All we did was subtract the number of foul balls he knocked into the stands last year."

Marion Race Meet Dates Approved for June 15 to July 5

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 9—The state racing commission yesterday approved dates for running races at four tracks. They were: Ascut Park, Akron, June 5-24, and Sept. 9-20. Thistledown, Cleveland, Aug. 9-Sept. 4 and a choice between Oct. 2-23 or Oct. 5-26. Hamilton, July 3-22. River Down, Cincinnati, May 20-July 1.

"North Randall's trailing dates, previously approved June 24-July 15, were changed to June 26-July 15 to avoid conflict with Ascut park's dates. The North Randall running dates, May 11-June 3, remain unchanged.

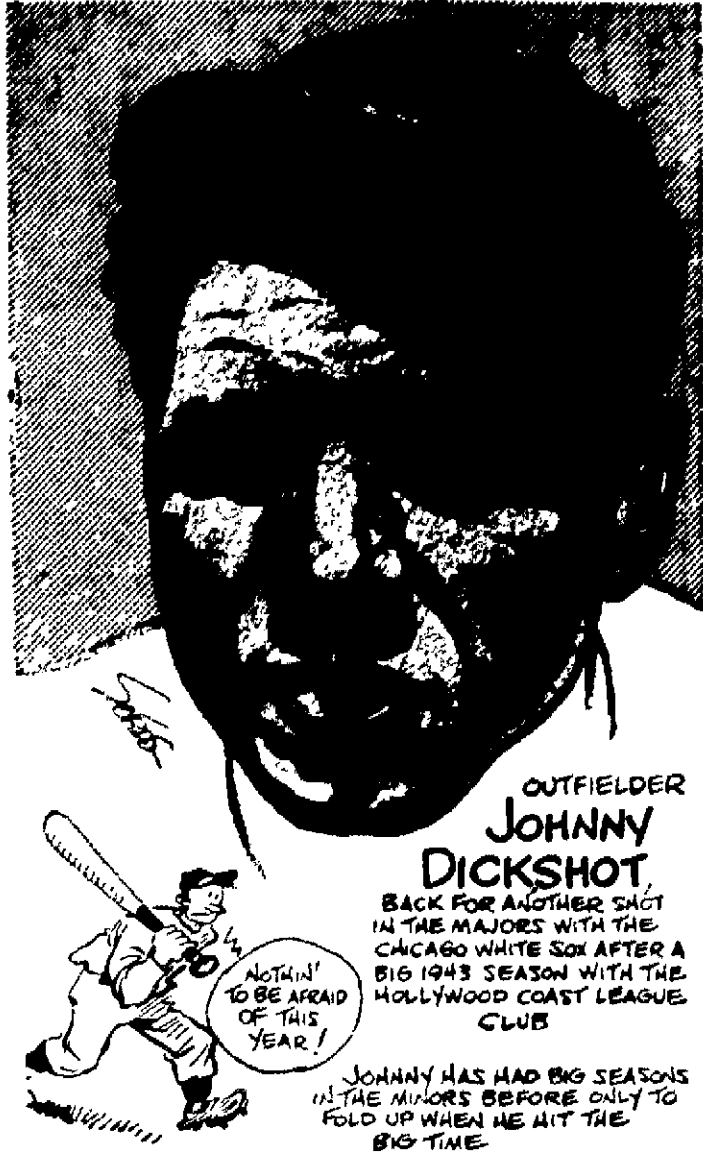

Other 1944 running race dates approved by the commission last week were:

Deulah Park, Columbus, May 6-30 and Aug. 20-Sept. 21, Ft. Steuben, Steubenville, July 15-Aug. 5 and Sept. 9-30.

Trailing races also were approved for Marion June 15-July 5.

SPORTS BOOM IN POST-WAR ERA Expected by Fans in Britain

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR AP Features Writer

LONDON — When, as the song says, the lights go on again all over the world, Britain will be in for a tremendous boom in sports, all forms of which are almost as essential to the average man on this war-toughened island as his afternoon tea.

The same war that robbed him of his fresh eggs and citrus fruits has taken away some of his sports and put others out of reach, and when the shooting stops he's going to be starved for all three.

Just as in the United States, the government in Britain has taken the view that sports should continue as far as possible in wartime for the building up of both bodies and morale but here, just as at home, sports have been curtailed by transportation restrictions and manpower demands.

All Sports Feel Pinch

There isn't a sport in England that hasn't felt the pinch and some of them, like sleighing, bigtime golf and international tennis, have disappeared entirely.

Club members still visit the golf links for an occasional game but usually find the fairways littered with lamb chops on the hoof and hitting a sheep has become accepted as a natural hazard which doesn't cost the loss of a stroke.

Football, horse racing, cricket and dog racing continue on a reduced scale with the number of spectators limited by law.

Still, spectator sports blessed with adequate transportation facilities always draw all the customers the law allows and betting has soared to record proportions among the sports-loving British, who would wager on anything even before their pockets became filled with war-boom cash that

Mexican Battler, Glenwood and St. Mary Win Division Titles in Gra-Y Loop

Juan Zurita, Lifts Angott's NBA Title

HOLLYWOOD, March 9—Discouraged by a split-decision loss to Luther (Sluggo) White here last summer and inability to get a lightweight championship bout, Juan Zurita returned to his native Mexico City, determined not to lose in the United States again.

Today he holds the NBA title. He whipped the clever, rugged and stout-hearted Sammy Angott last night in Hollywood baseball park. It marked the first time in Sammy's long career that he had lost a fight at the lightweight limit.

But Sammy lost, and he lost by a wide margin. After the first round, when Zurita seemed poised to win by the knockout, the Mexican settled down and took the aggressive, and beat the Pennsylvania Italian to the punch through the next 14 rounds.

The 11,300 spectators clamored for more action and late in the contest referee Mushy Callahan implored the fighters to speed up things. It was not Zurita's fault, however, that there were not more exchanges. Angott clung to the fighting, where usually he excels, he came out second best.

Angott looked nothing like the champion who came out here last fall and slammed Sluggo White all over the ring in the same ball park to win every one of the 15 rounds. He was away off in his timing and he learned very clean and solid punches. Angott had some difficulty making the 135 pounds agreed upon and he looked somewhat drawn when he crawled through the ropes. Furthermore, he had been notified, only a few hours before, that he must take his pre-induction physical examination here today. His draft board and just reclassified him 1-A. He is married and has two children.

The battle royal starts at 8:30 and the first two to lose go to the showers, the next two pinned return for the 45 minute semi-final and the last two left in the ring come back for the two hour main event.—Ad.

Glenwood "A's" undefeated, high scoring five won the section championship of Division "A" and St. Mary's crew the title of Division "B" with victories at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday afternoon on a four-game card that concluded the regular Gra-Y season. Both crown-winners finished with five victories and no setbacks.

Glenwood clinched its trophy with a 40 to 18 win over Marion Street while Dan McGinnis' St. Mary Irish posted a closely-fought 19 to 18 triumph over Pearl Street.

Other Gra-Y results Tuesday were Forest Lawn 7, Oakland "B" 2, and Oakland "A" 14, Silver Street 12, Next Tuesday at the Y, two games matching Greenwood and North Main, and Oakland and Pearl, will be played to determine which two outfits will play for the consolation titles. The championship play-off will be staged March 21 with Glenwood "A" and St. Mary squaring off. The consolation final will be played as a preliminary to the title contest.

High scorer Tuesday for the strong Glenwood team, which has not lost a game during the 1943-44 campaign, including both first and second round competition, was Center Runderlin with 18 points on seven baskets and four free throws. Maloney led point-making for St. Mary with eight markers and Center Leffler had 21 points to pace the losing Pearl team. Haycox had 10 points for Mark.

Jeffries, 68, Keeps in Trim with Hoe in Victory Garden

By The Associated Press
 SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 9.—James J. Jeffries, husky former world heavyweight champion, was seen at the dwindling tribe of old-time boxers back to the days of the great fighters, is publicizing his health with the hoe.

Jeffries, now, Jeffries has a better reason for his success in the garden. He is conditioning his body for the fight of his life, a fight with the hoe. He is working on his stamina by cultivating the victory garden on his estate.

Jeffries is in boxing is as lively as ever, and he even helps with the conditioning program. He is working on his stamina by cultivating the victory garden on his estate.

With other oldtimers of the ring, Jeffries is convinced that the current specimens would be easy prey for the pugilists of his day. He thought nothing of it when he was a champion, but now he is working on his stamina by cultivating the victory garden on his estate.

The championship bout with Jess Willard in the eleventh round of a scheduled 25-round battle at Coney Island, five months ago, was a successful defense of the title. Jeffries was not only for his toughness but was so brilliantly lighted for movie cameramen that both fighters lost their hair from the heat of the lamps.

HOT DAYS "DOWN UNDER"—While Americans shiver, Australia has been experiencing a heat wave, as witness this crowded scene at Bondi beach in New South Wales.

1,100 FAY PENALTY—Ohio game protectors, who do a great many things in the conservation program in their respective counties, also were "on their toes" in law enforcement during 1943.

A compilation of cases made by Lester Bailey, chief of the Law Enforcement Section of the Ohio Division of Conservation and reported to Conservation Commissioner Don Waters reveals that 1,102 arrests were made and an even 1,100 convictions obtained. Fines assessed by the courts totaled $23,717.

REPORTS ON FISH STUDY—John Z. Pelton, fish management agent in District No. 7, has recently completed a report on a fish study made by the Ohio division of conservation and natural resources in the Scioto river.

The object was to find out the movement of fish, what kind and sizes are present throughout the year and in what numbers they occur. Along with this the study included the best methods to use in catching fish, turbidity of the river throughout the year, etc.

In answer to the question, "Do fish go upstream in spring and downstream in the fall," the Pelton report says "we found a downstream movement in the fall. Ninety fish were caught in late August and 169 taken in September. The bulk consisted of the following species: golden mullet, short redhorse sucker, gizzard shad, river carp sucker, white nose sucker and quillback. These species seem to come down in abundance in the order given."

Throughout the winter months our total catch was 175 although we caught a nice variety of species. The fish seemed to move locally and remain as residents of certain areas of the stream. In the spring, starting with March, there was a definite upstream movement of golden mullet, short-head redhorse sucker, channel catfish, river carp sucker, white nose sucker and spotted bass.

National League:
 New York — Glavin announced nine-game exhibition schedule including special Red Cross benefit tilt with Yankees at Polo Grounds, April 13. Signed Pitcher Walter Oakey, 23, a six-footer discharged from the Army who won 13 games for Milford, Del., in Class D in 1941.

Philadelphia — Pitchers Dick Barrett, Julius Homokay of Utica, N. Y., eastern league club and Charley Schanz of San Diego, Calif., Pacific Coast League club, all righthanders, signed contracts. Johns Hopkins denounced Phila. and "demanded suitable satisfaction for stealing Blue Jay nickname. Owner Bob Carpenter quipped: "When did Johns Hopkins ever win a ball game?"

St. Louis — Whitley Kuroski, regular third baseman, came to terms with Cardinals in phone conversation.

Pittsburgh — Infielder Pete Costasari signed.

Chicago — Outfielder Dominic Dallesandro announced he had been rejected by the Army and classified 4-F due to head injury suffered in baseball.

honor of the heroes of World war II. They may include such community projects as public forests, memorial lakes, parks, playgrounds, community buildings, libraries—memorial that people can use.

L. R. Ballinger, chairman of the Ohio conservation and natural resources commission, urged the adoption of living memorials in his address before the Outdoor Writers Association of America, an idea that "taught on" with the writers who will urge that conservation projects form the basis for living memorial planning in Ohio and other states.

Gov. Bricker and Conservation Commissioner Don Waters already have received numerous letters from post-war planning committees in Ohio cities and communities, stating that living memorials are being considered throughout Ohio.

CONSERVATION MONTH
 Following the proclamation of Gov. Bricker setting aside, for the sixth consecutive year, the entire month of April as Conservation Month in Ohio, Conservation Commissioner Don Waters has urged all sportsmen's groups, farm organizations, civic organizations and other organizations to include conservation as the theme of one of their meetings during April.

NOTES
 The trapping season in the Lake Erie district will close March 13. New 1944 fishing licenses went into effect March 1 and reports indicate that early spring fishing in the Buckeye state will be heavy, based upon the sales of these licenses.

DISCOVERY OF COLDS RELIEF
 (Some medicated cottons) which produce relief for coughs, colds, sore throats, etc., are now available. These are sold in a box containing 100 cottons. Each cotton contains a small amount of medicine. The cottons are used by placing them in the mouth and breathing through them. The medicine is absorbed into the blood and the cold is cured.

LIVING MEMORIALS URGED
 The Ohio conservation commission and other groups, including the Ohio Parks association, are advocating living memorials in honor of the heroes of World war II.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

KATIE stood motionless, silent, for the fraction of a second. Then she rose to what I knew for her was the height of housewifely sacrifice.

"Let them dish go," she said. "I'm a little worse of her hand. I'll do them about as soon as I put these things out to dry. But I'll put them to stand still for a moment, and run sure thing day can't run away."

Truck

She looked at her own feet, and, relieved at her decision, I put on my coat, tied a scarf over my hair, slipped on my mittens, and they, recalled my "mittens," and went out doors, took Jim's distressed helping hand, and climbed to the sheltered front compartment of the farm truck.

"Shall we go by the road or over the fields?" I asked, knowing that in his very reliable way, he would already have worked out the answer.

"I think better by the fields," he answered. "All last week I fixed them with ashes, so the truck wheels don't sink in, and if you go this way nobody'll dream of seeing here. They'll think I'm just doing chores with the truck as I do every day. And if we went by the road, somebody might see you, and that might not be so good."

"No, it might not Jim," I said, and said no more until we had lumbered across the fields, through the back yard of the Ticer farmhouse, and up to the kitchen door in when at once appeared the figure of Mrs. Ticer, one of the most sterling, one hundred per cent women I ever have known.

YOUR HEALTH

Whooping Cough

IN JANUARY, when whooping cough is at its height in the Northern states, I discussed the new treatment of the disease with adrenal cortex. Now, in March, when it is at its height in the Southern states and the period of convalescence is on in the north, I want to discuss the contagiousness of that period. Convalescence is the most important stage of whooping cough for the rest of the community because that is the time it is spread to others.

Whooping cough has a long convalescence. And the best place for the whooping cough patient is the open air. And if he goes into a park or on the street to play, other children come around. To protect them is by no means easy. Dr. Bauer, of the American Medical Association, tells an amusing story which illustrates the fate of the best laid plans. He conceived the idea that if a child who was allowed to go into the park during the convalescent stage, wore a yellow placard labeled "Whooping Cough," the other children would be warned. But what actually happened was that the curiosity of all the other children was aroused and they crowded around the whooping cough convalescent.

I agree with Dr. Bauer that "There is altogether too much exposure of babies in public places." They are exposed to whooping cough, colds, measles, scarlet fever and chicken pox. Babies belong at home. This time of year, the movies is no place for a baby. If the parents cannot exist without amusement, they must get someone to stay with the baby at home. Neighbors can take turns with each other's babies.

The prime reason for this is that whooping cough in a baby under four years of age is no joke. The death rate is high. And there are other dangers. The vomiting which comes at the end of a paroxysm can weaken the child so that its nutrition is seriously undermined. In young babies, loss of water from the body from the diarrhoea and vomiting may present a grave complication. The roughing may produce a hernia, or a haemorrhage into the eyeball or even

At Home

"Nobody but me," she returned. "The men are at the barns."

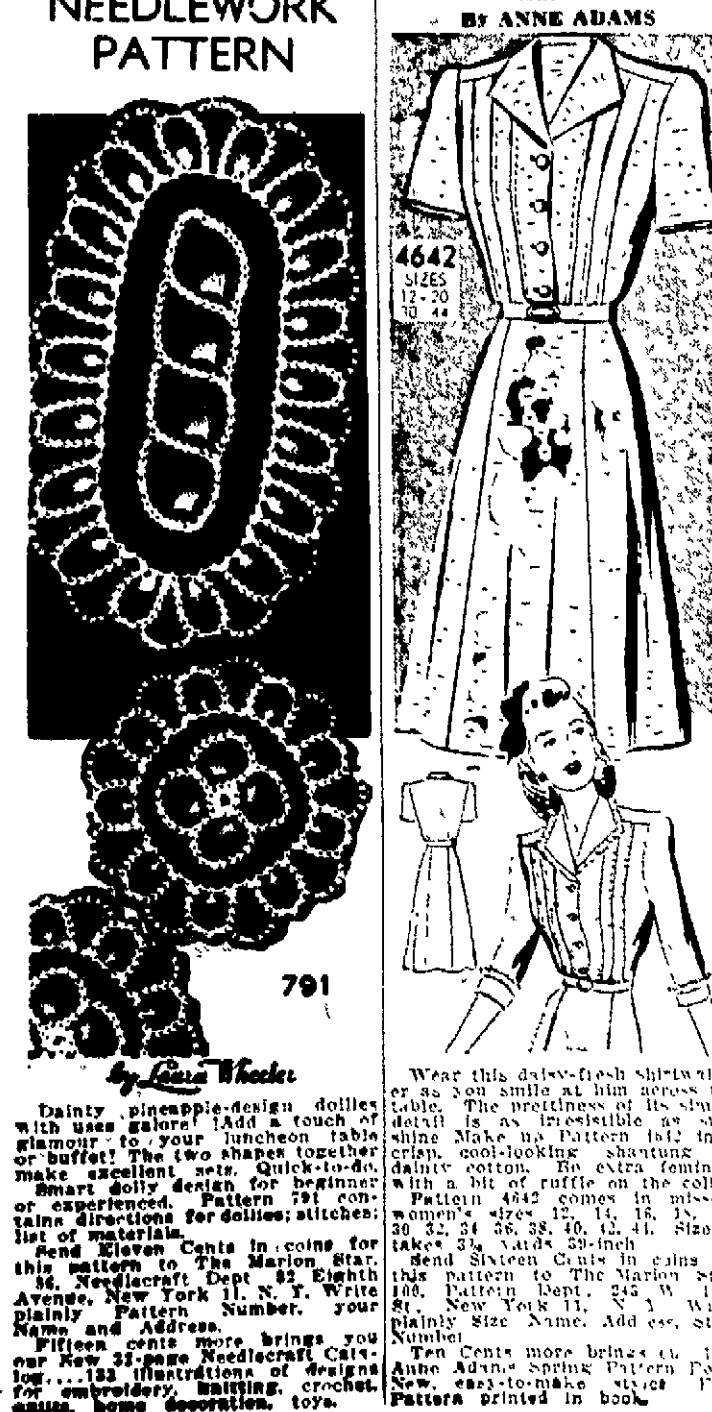

"Then I'll come in," I said. "Jim will go out to the barns and ask Mr. Ticer and Jerry to come into the house for a few minutes. Tell them I said it was urgent."

"Okay," Jim said climbing down, and Mrs. Ticer, turning, led the way into the house, through the kitchen into her cheery sitting room with blooming plants in all the windows.

"Sit down," she said, pulling forward a comfortable rocker, and I sank into it, feeling the homely peace and quiet of the room envelop me as I had done so many times before.

"I haven't much time to talk," I said, "but I have to tell you
